BRIDGEPORT HIGH SCHOOL

The procession of seniors at commencements ended the 1986-1987 school year. It has definitely been an enthusiastic year. The school celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. Alumni of Bridgeport High came home to partake in the festivities. Much of the spirit and energy of this celebration came from the students themselves. However, the enthusiasm did not stop there. The winter pep-rally, senior banquet, and senior prom were the scenes of more spirited fun. The year reached its zeinith when another generation of Bearcats graduated from Bridgeport High. They will undoubtedly spread their spirit wherever they go.

EUGENE STRAIT

Mr. Eugene Strait came to Bridgeport to initiate the new concept of team teaching in the math department. This concept consisted of having a large classroom setting with one instructor teaching the class an another teacher assisting students on an individual basis. He taught math as a department head for one year and then was appointed principal of the High School. During his tenure as principal, Mr. Strait organized the Bridgeport-Spaulding Commission which is in its eleventh year of operation. Over 400 students have been financially helped over the years through the Scholarship Commission. He was the High School principal for 19 years.

The Bridgeport-Spaulding School District benefited from Mr. Striat's expertise in the area of education and finance. He was active in the community but gave most of his time to education. He was "a teacher's teacher". Mr. Striat retired in November, 1986 after 25 years of service to the School District.

JEAN BENWAY

Jean Benway began her career in the Bridgeport Schools as a teacher aid. She worked in the Guidance Office at the old Jr. High and came to the High School as guidance secretary in September of 1961 when the school opened. She later worked in the Athletic Office and was there until her retirement in June, 1986. Mrs. Benway willingly gave extra time in support of the band and athletic activities. She retired after 25½ years in the Bridgeport-Spaulding School District and was well liked by staff and students.

MARIANNE ARMSTONG

Marianne Armstrong transported many students back and forth to school as a bus driver for the Bridgeport-Spaulding Schools before becoming a secretary. She worked as a social studies department secretary, then in the Main Office with all its many duties. The Attendance Office was another of her assignments. In the last few years of employment, she worked as the guidance secretary and in data processing. With 22 years of dedicated service as a secretary at the High School, Mrs. Armstrong retired in July, 1986.

FRED IMMER

Fred Immer started teaching in the Bridgeport School District in 1958. When the High School opened he taught chemistry and physics before becomming Business Manager for the District in 1966. He was a quiet man and was fair in his dealings with people.

Mr. Immer was an avid jogger. You would see him jogging down Williamson in the most adverse weather. Mr. Immer left Bridgeport to pursue his career in Ludington.

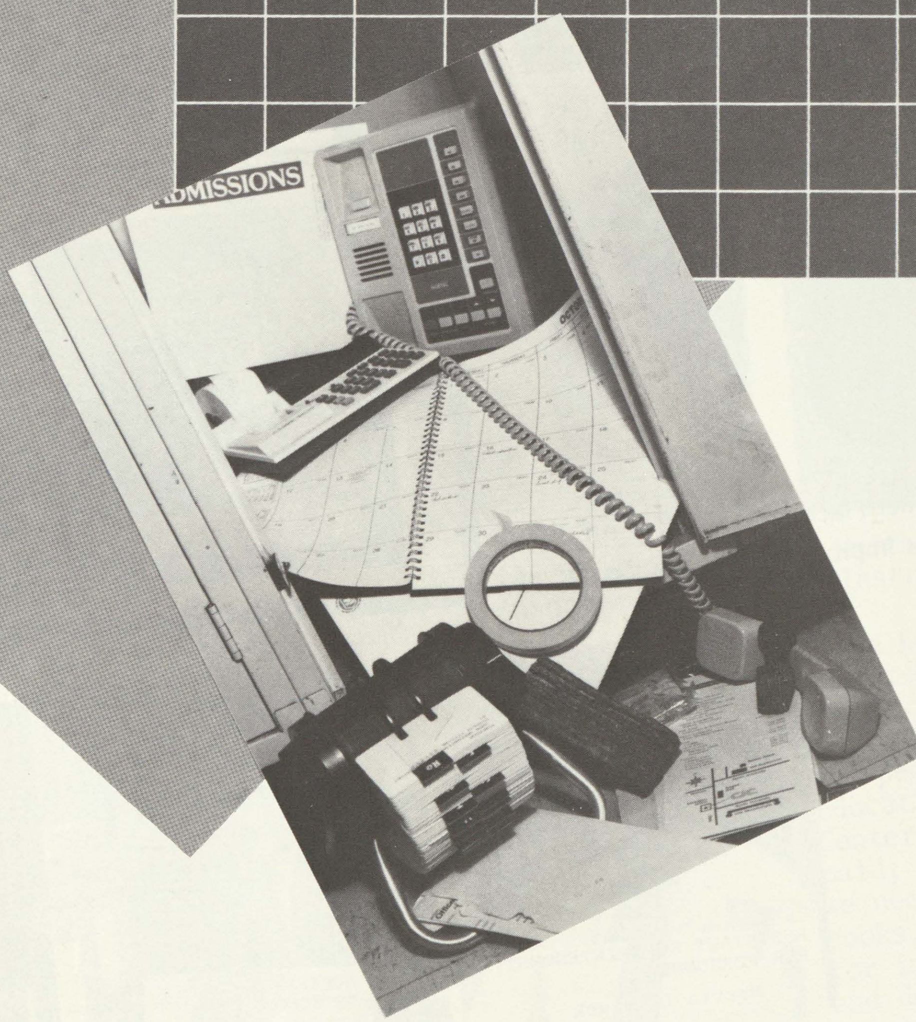

JEANETTE THAYER

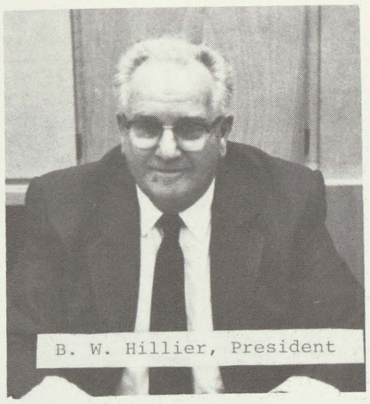

Jeannette Thayer retired in December, 1986, after working for the Bridgeport-Spaulding School District for 23 years. She was the secretary to the superintendent.

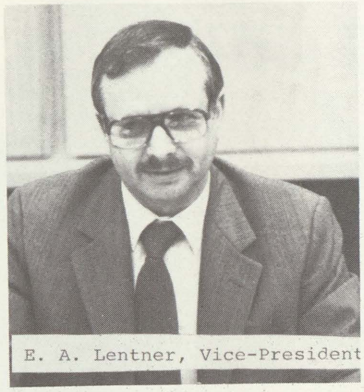

Mrs. Thayer liked people which was obvious by the way she always made you feel that you were the most important person around. She was always there when you needed her help and would go out of her way to assist you. She will be greatly missed by those who worked with her over the years.

This year the junior class of 1988 provided some stiff competition for the seniors and sophomores at the assemblies and in the float construction. The juniors won the loudest class award at the December assembly. The judge was Mr. Becker. The class of 1988 gave Bridgeport High School some of its best moments in the areas of academics and atheletics in the school year of 1986-87.

11th ANNUAL MICHIGAN INV

ETHNIC FESTIVAL

Reaching Out Through Friends.

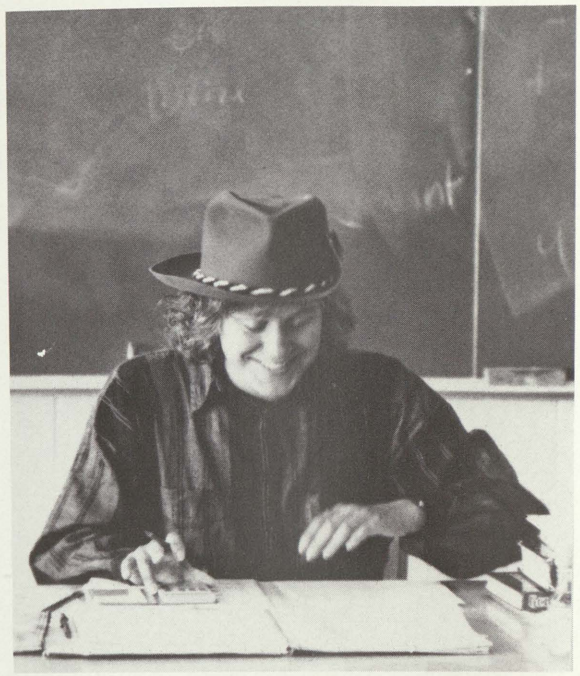

The Ethnic Festival was the place to be on November fifth for good food and entertainment. The students at Bridgeport in cooperation with citizens in the area pulled out all the stops to make this festival the best yet. Food booths, which represented about eighteen different nationalities, served their edible delights to spectators for nominal charges. While the visitors mingled at the many booths they were entertained by singers and dancers of various ethnic backgrounds. The Ethnic Festival culminated with the rappers. Everyone who went was filled with culture, music, and of course, food.

The Homecoming dance at Bridgeport High School was the first semi-formal dance of the year. The dance started at 9:30 and lasted until 11:30. This dance was set apart from previous dances because alumni danced with us from the 25th Anniversary activities. The fine music provided by the D.J. had everyone dancing until the very last dance. The dance capped off an exciting week.

The German Club provided this look at the May Pole and the beautiful German dancers.

The 1986 Homecoming Parade for the 25th Anniversary of Bridgeport High School was a great success. A very large group of people turned out to support the students and teachers who worked so hard to make this possible. The Bearcat Marching Band showed its stuff that afternoon and the beautiful floats were certainly impressive.

The parade began at 11:00 and continued for over an hour. The many entries brought cheers from the crowd as the floats passed. The Grand Marshall for this parade was Eugene E. Strait who was the Principal of Bridgeport High School for 18 years until his move to the Purchasing Department at the Educational Sevices Center. The entries included the Spanish Club, German Club, The Bridgeport-Spaulding Scholarship Commission, the D.E.C.A. Club of BHS, Senator Jerry Hart, a representative car for each class from 1961-1987, the BHS Cheerleading squads, and many, many more.

The Class of 1987 won the float contest for the third year in a row at the football game the previous night.

The 1986-87 Snow Carnival proved to be an exciting week for all involved. Student and teachers participated in the theme days(Sweatshirt, Robe & Slippers, Hawaiian, & Red & Gold Days) with much spirit and enthusiam. Events came to a climax on Friday, when seniors Heidi Rakowski and Mika Eskola were crowned Snow Queen & King.

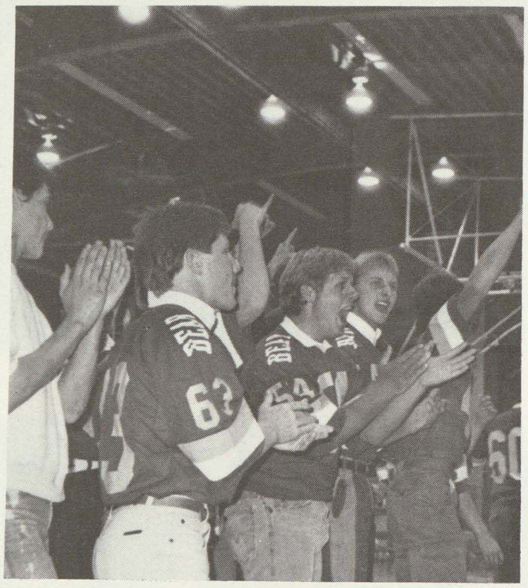

PEP ASSEMBLIES

The pep assemblies at Bridgeport High School put students and team members in a winning spirit. The Cheerleaders and the Pom-pon squad with the Jazz Band,had helped greatly to create an undefeatible spirit.

Student to aid state Board of Education

When Florina Kapitzke packs up for Michigan State University in September, her bundle will include high school students' ideas for Michigan lawmakers.

The 17-year-ol Bridgeport Hig School senior is th new student co-ad ministrative aid for the Michiga State Board o Education.

FLORINA KAPITZKE

In exchange fo spotlighting stu dent-related mat ters, she wil receive half her tu ition, room and board, book fees and $5 an hour for 10 hours of work a week — a big perquisite for a self-supporting college student.

And, if Kapitzke is as successful at the state level as she has been at the local level, Michigan high school students will notice some changes.

"Students are better educated, and their opinions can be of value to administrators," Kapitzke said.

She speaks from experience.

After an anxiety-ridden adventure at the beginning of high school, Kapitzke suggested Bridgeport school officials adopt an orientation plan. Since then, new students have reviewed the school's layout and met teachers, counselors and administrators before their first day of classes.

Next Monday, Kapitzke again will test her influence in the district when she proposes erasing second semester exams for seniors.

Kapitzke volunteered for the 19-member research committee — nine administrators and 10 students — that came up with the proposal. Members examined solutions to "senioritis," which traditionally sets in once high school seniors receive college acceptance notices.

"(Renouncing exams for seniors) has been done in other schools. If students meet certain requirements, they can waive second-semester exams," she said.

Selected from a field of 15 students, Kapitzke will replace Amy Meyers — an Eisenhower High School graduate who will complete her second year of service on the state Board of Education in June.

Both Kapitzke and Meyers participated in student leadership forums at their high schools — one of the requirements for applying for the student aide position.

Acting as an information pipeline between legislators and students, Kapitzke will sit in on all meetings of the House and Senate Education and Appropriations committees and meet with Department of Education officials.

Juggling the grueling schedule won't be anything new for the teen-ager.

Kapitzke has a 3.67 grade-point average and has worked as a co-op student at Saginaw Division, 3900 E. Holland, for two years. The experience convinced her to pursue advertising and political science at MSU.

BUILDING AMERICA'S FUTURE

The Vocational Education Classes At BHS Offer A Wide Variety Of Subjects In Different Areas.

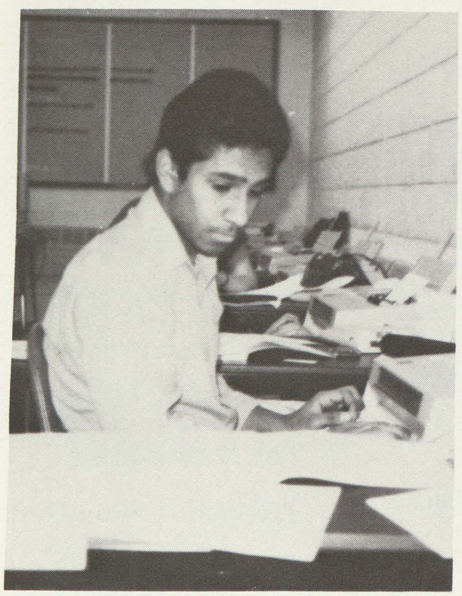

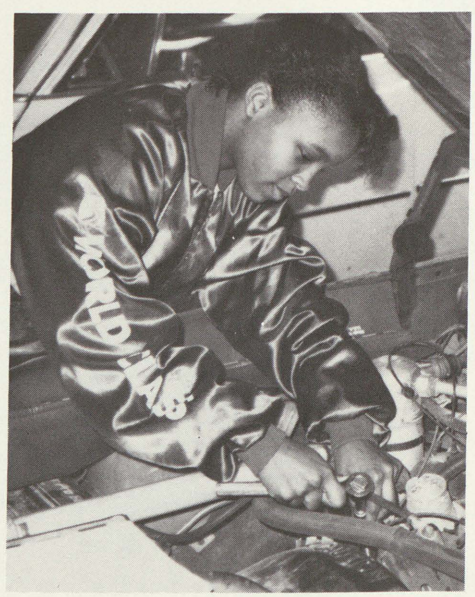

The Non-Traditional students group at Brideport High School is an organization of Vocational Education students that enroll in classes that are stereotyped male or female. An example is a man taking Office Training and Communications or woman taking the Auto Mechanics or Machine Shop. This group discusses and breaks down the barrier of sex oriented jobs. Below are example pictures of Non-Traditional students.

ASETS is one of the programs conducted through Michigan's NETWORK Project. ASETS (Achieving Sex Equity Through Students) is a student leadership program in which student teams make a series of four presentations to 8th, 9th, or 10th graders in their schools. These presentations focus on four objectives that deal with how students' career choices and options are influenced by sex role stereotyping.

In the ASETS program, a Core Advisory Group composed of the building principal, teacher-advisors, and representatives from counseling and vocational education identifies juniors and seniors to participate on the student teams. Each team has three members and includes both males and females, juniors and seniors, and general and vocational education students. In addition, a faculty member acts as an advisor to each team.

The student teams and their teacher-advisors attend a two-day workshop. The workshop focuses on what sex role stereotyping is, how it affects both males and females, how it affects career choices, and why nontradition career opportunities need to be explored. During the workshop, the teams learn how to plan and conduct their presentations.

SENNOWITZ AT BHS

by Jinny Ahrens

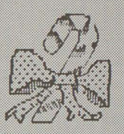

As all our readers know, Miss Sennowitz replaced Mrs. Becker as the high school's German teacher.

Sennowitz is from Troy, Michigan and attended the University of Michigan. Before she accepted the teaching job at BHS, Sennowitz taught in Ann Arbor, Michigan, for a half a year. Sennowitz stated that she is used to a bigger student body than that of BHS. But, she says, in the long run students are all the same and show a lot of potential if they are handled in the right way. By that she means a number of dittos and tests.

Sennowitz is the advisor for the Pep Club and German Club, and plans to stay at BHS for at least a couple of years.

Sennowitz does not plan on marriage in the near future. She has too many things to do for herself before she decides to settle down; and hopes that this statement will stop all rumors about herself and Coach Kolcheff. Her interests are swimming, running and traveling.

We at BHS welcome Miss Sennowitz to our town; we also say good-bye to Mrs. Becker. We wish both the best of luck at their new jobs.

MARKETING AND MANAGEMENT

by

Becky Stebner and Gina Kwaiser

Bridgeport's Marketing and Management program has undergone some new changes this school year. Mainly, it is under new direction. Miss Crystal Dudock is the new teacher for this program, and Mrs. Holck is the new paraprofessional.

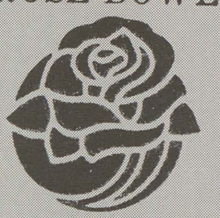

Both instructors bring a vast amount of experience with them to BHS. Miss Dudock has worked for 3 years with Mrs. Schwartz (the teacher who developed the program) and then went on to get her Marketing and Management Degree from Delta. She also holds a bachelor's degree from Ferris State College.

Mrs. Holck says she is very familiar with the retail business, as her family and her have been involved with it for 21 years. Mrs. Holck has completed 3 years of college in social work and human relations and is presently working towards a degree at Saginaw Valley. Her goal is to earn a Masters Degree in Counseling.

We asked Miss Dudock what changes in the program she anticipated for the future. She said that no major changes were presently being considered, but they are getting new cabinets and a display area for the store.

Both instructors indicated their pleasure with BHS and its students. Miss Dudock says she believes in vocational education, in the experience of DECA, and most of all, in the students. Mrs Holck says she enjoys the students, also, and has a genuine interest in "happiness success."

NFL divided on instant replay

By The Associated Press

After a season of experimentation, NFL executives remain divided over the league's instant replay rule.

"We're opposed to it philosophically," says George Young, general manager of the New York Giants. "We believe the game belongs on the field, not in the press box."

Dallas Cowboys President Tex Schramm, who pushed for adoption of the rule, defends the new system that allows a replay official to overturn some officiating mistakes on the field.

"It's been good for the game," he says. "Sure, there were problems, but most of them have been ironed out."

The future of instant replay will be decided in March at the NFL's annual meeting. If twenty-one of the league's 28 clubs do not vote to retain the rule, it will not be used next season.

Cleveland Browns President Art Modell expects a lively debate.

"I think there'll be strong opposition," he says. "But I think we (supporters) will wear them down."

Teen remembers to slow down for 300

BY JOHN POZENEL
News Staff Writer

Kevin Callison didn't have any trouble remembering his stepfather's instructions when he stepped on the approach Sunday at Stardust Lanes and finished off his 300 game.

"I knew what I had to do," said Callison. "I had to take my time."

Callison, 17, said his stepfather, Jim Stoppleworth, had drummed it into his head. "He's harped about it often enough," laughed Callison.

Stoppleworth, who owns Americana Lanes and two Stoppy's Pro Shop operations, gave the teen good advice.

"I've seen a lot of bowlers rush up there on the final shot," said Callison.

The pressure didn't seem to bother him. "Oh, my heart was pounding a little," he said, smiling.

Callison's 300 in the first game of the Moskal's Pro Shop Youth Traveling League session at Stardust. He tacked on games of 202 and 213 for a 715 series.

The Bridgeport High School senior said he's grateful to his stepfather for a lot more than just that one piece of advice.

"If it weren't for Jim, I don't think I would have ever had a bowling ball in my hand. He deserves 98 percent of the credit for this (300). The other two percent is kind of spread out among other people."

Callison said bowling the 300 means that one of his two big goals in bowling has been achieved and he's closing in on the other one.

"I want to average 200 before the season is out," said Kevin, who was averaging 193 in the traveling league and 197 in a youth league at Americana on Thursdays.

Not only does Callison roll a bowling ball well but he drills them, too.

"He's got quite a clientele of his own," said his stepfather.

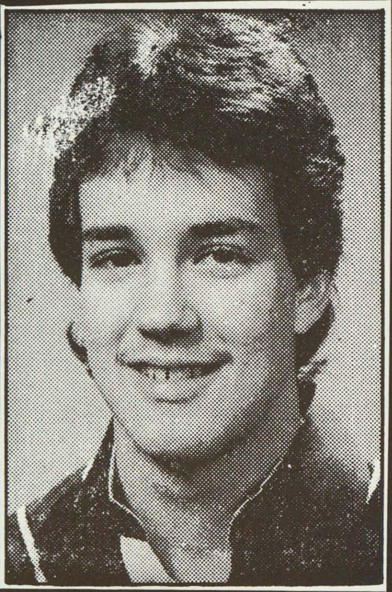

"Nothing in bowling can compare to drilling a ball and having somebody do well with it," said Callison.

Ironically, Callison drilled the bowling ball which produced another 300 game last week. "Jim was busy so I drilled Barry Christopher's ball," said Kevin. He also drilled a ball that Frank Soria rolled a 298 game with. And his own bowling ball, of course.

Callison isn't sure if he'll continue his bowling career while in college. He plans to attend Michigan State University next year. "It'll depend on my class schedule," he said.

After college he wouldn't mind taking a shot at the Pro Bowler's Tour but he has his feet firmly planted on the ground. "I love the game but it takes total dedication and I'm not ready to give it that now."

He believes in taking his time, whether it's the 10th frame or career choices.

Second youth rolls 300 game

Call in the kids!

Gary Prast, a 17-year-old youth bowler, rolled Candlelite Bowl's first 300 of the season in the Mix-Ups Junior League Wednesday.

The perfect game, the second of the season by a youth bowler, helped Prast to a hefty 757 series.

Seventeen-year-old Kevin Callison tossed the first 300 at Stardust back on Dec. 21.

Prast got his perfecto one week after Matt Stanard rolled a 780 series in the same league. Stanard's set is believed to be the highest three-game series ever by a youth bowler in Saginaw.

Prast, who also works at the Bridgeport bowling center, has been on a tear of late.

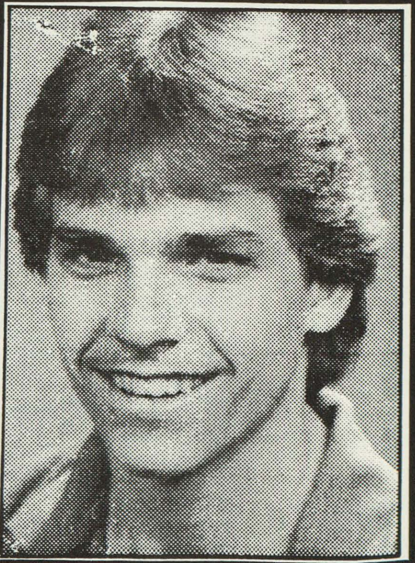

"I had a 279 game last week," the Bridgeport High 12th grader said, "but I only hit 641."

Prast also threw the first eight strikes in a 268 game two weeks before that and counted a 280 game last season.

On Wednesday, though, everything came together.

He explained that the toughest throw was the second ball of the 10th frame.

"My hands were sweating a lot," he said. "I dropped the ball at the line and it came in real light, but it carried pretty well."

Gary Prast

AND NOW A WORD FROM OUR SPONSOR...

Many people do not realize the importance of the advertisement section. Every year the cost to publish a school yearbook rises. To help defray these costs so that everyone will have an equal opportunity to purchase a yearbook, the yearbook staff must visit every local business in hopes that they will purchase an ad. It seems that as years go by and inflation rises, fewer people are interested in purchasing an ad to help the staff lower book rates or produce a book with more special effects. Please read the advertising section in the yearbook. It will show you those community members who are still dedicated to helping students at BHS deal with inflation and lessening community interest. A special thanks goes to each of the businesses who purchased an advertisement from the 1987 ERA staff.

Autographs

Picture of flooded fire station of Dixie Hwy.

The production of this book of 160 pages has taken ten months and over a thousand hours of combined time of staff members as well as those who are not on staff, but were most important to getting this book completed. The staff received help from getting copies to getting a roller cart made and all the help received was appreciated and without this help this book could not have been published.
